

Emad W. Elshaer

HSE & Training Management Specialist

Emad is a consummate, confident and competent health, safety, environmental and training (HSE&T) professional with a degree in marine engineering and NEBOSH international diploma in occupational health and safety along with 14 years of experience in the HSE field; he is competent in designing, and developing HSE management systems and HSE training curriculums with best results and outcomes. Emad is experienced in planning and conducting compliance HSE audits and HSE performance assessments also he is expert on HSE culture developing, promotion, evaluation and sustaining. Emad has a proven hands-on safety leadership developing and implementation across multi-culture environments including oil and gas and construction environments.

Emad is an HSE Specialist who worked at various locations such as Egypt, UAE, Saudi and Qatar where he started my career as HSE Engineer till he reached a managerial level leading and managing HSE teams in a multi-culture environment where he was responsible for developing HSE policies and procedures, monitoring their implementation & auditing their compliance also he has been involved in developing and promoting HSE culture across several premises.

Emad has in-depth knowledge of local and international HSE standards and regulations with extensive team management experience, proven ability and skills in developing and proposing HSE plans and training, and implementing HSE management systems with a respected and valued record of success as confident and competent HSE&T Professional.